"We Shall Meet but We Shall Miss Him."

AIR—The Vacant Chair.

AS SUNG AT THE NEWBERN CONCERT, MAY 8TH.

We shall meet but we shall miss him,
There will be one absent form;
One that oft to glory led us—
Through the deadly battle storm.
'Tis but three short years we number
Since our hearts were beating high,
But alas! in ceaseless slumber;
All our hopes with Jackson lie.
We shall meet but we shall miss him,
There will be one dreary void;
For the hopes we fondly cherished,
Are for evermore destroyed.

At our firesides, sad and lonely,
Often will the bosom swell
As we listen to the story
How our noble Chieftain fell—
How he bravely bore our banner,
Through the fiercest of the fight,
To uphold our Southern honor,
In the cause of Truth and Right!
We shall meet but we shall miss him,
We shall for our loved one weep,
As we bend in silent sorrow,
O'er the grave where Stonewall sleeps.

True, they tell us wreaths of glory
Evermore will deck his brow;
But this soothes the anguish only
Sweeping o'er our heart-strings now;
And though Fame, in future ages,
May enshrine him where he fell,
No surcease our heart assuages,
For his fall became our knell.
We shall meet, but we shall miss him,
Ever miss our fallen brave;
While we grieve in mournful silence,
O'er the cause he died to save.

Well Employed.

MRS. GENERAL RANSOM.—This lady, the wife of the gallant General Robert Ransom, of North Carolina, will this fall open in Wilmington, North Carolina, a first class Seminary for young ladies. She has secured the services of a corps of able and experienced Southern teachers.

Neither wife nor daughter of any Southern man, however distinguished his name, could be more honorably employed. Gen. LEE, the most illustrious of them all, is at the head of an institution for the education of boys. And who would have him anywhere else? Where could he be more useful than in a position to impress the grandeur of his character daily upon hundreds of young men preparing to go out into the world, and fix in their minds, by personal intercourse, a standard of excellence, which each may strive to approach in the formation of his own character.

How well it would be if thousands of those who served under and idolize him would follow his example by becoming instructors of the ignorant youth of our Southern land. The seperate benefit to themselves in the improvement of their own minds, in many cases would not be small, while the aggregate result of advantage to others would be incalculable. The consciousness of being engaged in a noble and philanthropic work could not be otherwise than elevating and ennobling to the character. Why, even the poor scarred and maimed Mississippi soldier mentioned in the last Floridian, as engaged in teaching a school of colored children, thus making an honest livelihood, and at the same time doing something to dispel from their minds a darkness more deplorable than that of their skins; sowing good seed, where, but for him, an enemy would probably be sowing tares; carrying on his work amid prejudices which even threaten to break out in deeds of violence; can the reader fail to see in his conduct a heroism equal to any exhibited by him in fighting on the battle field?

In our poor judgment, Gen. LEE's whole life shows nothing more truly noble than his acceptance of the position which he now holds.—Tallahasse Floridian.

RAILROAD SIGNALS.—Those who travel on the cars, or who witness the movement of the trains, and the men who operate the roads, may desire to know the signals used everywhere on the roads. She signals are given by the whistle, lanterns, flags, and motion of the arms. Their signification is:

One whistle—"Down brakes."
Two whistles—"Off barkes."
Three whistles—"Back up."

A rapid succession of short whistles is the cattle alarm, at which the brakes will alwa be put down.

A sweeping parting of hands on level of e is the signal to "go ahead."

A downward motion of one hand, with exte ded arms, "to stop."

A beckoning motion of one hand, "to bacf

A lantern raised and lowered vertically is signal for "starting;" swung at right angl, or crosswise the track, "to stop;" swung in circle, "back the train."

A red flag waved up the track must be regarded as a signal of danger. So with other signals given with energy.

Hoisted at a station is a signal for a train to stop.

Stuck up by the roadside is a signal of danger on the track ahead.

Carried unfurled upon the engine is a warning that another engine or train is on its way.

We do not understand the taste on the art of our northern cotemporaries which dotes whole columns to the details of the murder in Philadelphia,—of a courtesan by a libertine. The thing is natural enough to such a cess of life, and all that is needed is to hang the murderer.

The most extraordinary instance of pence on record, in modern times, is that of an Indiana judge, who listened for two days while a couple of wordy attorneys were contending at the construction of an Act of the Legislature and then ended by quietly remarking: "Gentlemen, the law is repealed."

There was a tournament at Huntsville, Ala., lately, and as the "Knight of the Grey Jacket" was passing down the street, the militia cut off his buttons for him. The operation was quietly submitted to.

PROSPECTUS.

This company owns by warranty title nearly fourteen thousand acres of mineral lands, situated in the counties of Chatham, Moore, Rockingham and Stokes, on the waters of Deep and Dan Rivers, in North Carolina, which abound in plentiful deposits of coal, copper, iron, salt, and, there is every reason to believe from general and surface indications, petroleum or coal oil.

The services of two practical and efficient men, experienced in boring for oil, and stimulated by a long course of success in Venango county, Pennsylvania, were secured by the company several months since and they are now on the lands, with the requisite force, tools, steam engine and machinery, boring a well with very flattering prospects of success. The organization of this company effected some time since has now been perfected in legal form, by act of incorporation, with a capital of $500,000, divided into 100,000 shares of $5 each.

By reference to the valuable and laborious reports of Prof. Emmons, State Geologist, and Commodore Wilkes, U. S. Navy, every one interested will be enabled to judge of the value of the large area of territory secured by the North Carolina Petroleum and Mining Co.

It is well known that a superior article of bituminous coal is now being mined in the Deep river coal region, where a portion of the lands are situated, and this company owns property known to be equal if not superior to any on which shafts have been sunk. Copper, iron and salt also abound, and the attention of capitalists has already been directed to this section on account of its value for the above minerals.

Below are given a few extracts from the journals showing that there is no good reason why there should not be as large quantities of oil in the "Old North State" as in other States.

Oil has been struck in Overton county, Tennessee, on the north line of that State, about midway from its eastern border, eighteen miles from the Cumberland mountains.—Christian (Richmond) Observer.

OIL WELLS IN WEST VIRGINIA.—The Parkersburg Times gives an astonishing statement of the yield of wells in the region thereabout, consisting of Wood, Wirt, Ritchie and other counties, viz; Burning Springs, 2,500 barrels per day; White Oak, 1,500; Lick Run, 1,000; Horse Neck, 150; and of the several wells on Hughes river, 6,000 barrels per day. The quality is said to be remarkably fine. The Times considers the oil of West Virginia the best yet discovered.

THE OIL EXCITEMENT IN ILLINOIS.—The oil excitement in Clark county is still high. Some eight or ten derricks are up and at work. The deepest well is only 325 feet, with a fair yield of oil. Some of the other wells have struck oil and gas at from 70 to 100 feet.—Much time and money will be spent this summer in the thorough development of the oil resources of Clark county. Men of capital and experience seem confident that oil will be found in large quantities, and are willing to test their faith by a free expenditure in developing the lands. The first company who bored on the land of Hon. T. B. Young, are now engaged in trying to raise the anger which was lost last fall. The Eastern Illinois Company will begin work in a few days twelve miles southwest of the first well. The prospect in that locality is good.—Chicago Tribune.

It is known that after a few months boring in the vicinity of Lynchburg, a large vein of oil was struck and a productive well is now in successful operation. This is on the same line with, and about 80 miles from, the company's first well on Dan River, where the indications both general and particular are similar.

In order to have sufficient means to develop this valuable property in such a manner as to insure success, the Directors have authorized 10,000 shares of the capital stock to be sold to raise a working capital, and subscriptions for that number or any part thereof will be received.

An uncommonly favorable opportunity for investment is thus afforded, as those who choose to buy stock under this offer will have the advantage of an equal footing with the original corporators in an enterprise which, after the example of the immense profits realized in those of a similar character in other States, though in many respects on less favorable conditions than this, (compare the extent, cheapness and fee simple title of the basis of operations here offered) gives reasonable assurance of the most lucrative results. In many instances in sections of less favorable oil localities, shares have advanced in a few days from $2 or $5 to $20 and even $50, and poor men who made small investments realized fortunes.

Further information may be had at the office of the company, one door north of the Court House, Greensboro, N. C., where books of subscription are now open.

By order of the Directors.

A. G. BRENIZER, Secretary.

1856 and 1866.

The world is full of change, national, social and individual, and many and surprising are the mutations that a single decade may witness.

We were in a situation to be a close observer of events and of men in 1856, and it is our duty and habit still to observe them closely. In that year, when the Free-soil party first assumed an organized shape, and it was perceived that Fremont's chances for an election to the Presidency were really formidable, we had a certain class of men in the South who declared that such an event would be good and sufficient cause for dissolving the Union, and that the South would disgrace itself forever by submitting to it;—in other words, that the occasion would then have arrived for the exercise of that right of secession, which they had long sought to make the people believe was inherent and incontrovertible. There was no term of reproach, contumely and bitterness, employed by those men, too harsh to be applied to the Yankee, in general, and to such men as Seward, Sumner, Giddings, &c., in particular. Every man in the South, who was opposed to their extreme views, was denounced as an abolition sympathizer, and here in North Carolina Messrs. Badger, Graham, Gilmer, Clingman, Rayner, Boyden, and others of similar prominence, were held up as enemies to their section. The most terrible predictions as to the effects of Free-soil rule were indulged, and the South admonished that it was time to gird on its armor and fight for its imperilled liberties.

In 1860, when the time arrived, in the hurricane of events, for carrying these boastful threats into execution, a few of those, who had been particularly conspicuous in making them, "flashed fire," and furnished a remarkable illustration of the antagonism between profession and practice. When the war was thrust upon us, however, they went into it with great apparent enthusiasm. They advised the people to fight until the last dollar and the last man were exhausted, abused Lincoln as a tyrant and an usurper, stigmatized Andrew Johnson as a traitor and a devil, and vowed and swore, until they were hoarse of voice and red in the face, that they were as true men as the Confederacy contained anywhere.

In 1863, a few reverses sufficed to cool their martial ardor,—which was the more remarkable, as the few to whom we refer (only a few, for the most of those, who believed in the doctrine of secession, proved by their acts the sincerity of their faith,) were nowhere near the perilous edge of the fight, but only "smelt the battle from afar." They villified Mr. Davis and professed to be seeking for peace by the very curious method of dividing our people and distracting the common counsels. To tell the truth plainly, they ingloriously deserted those whom they had for years been urging on to danger and strife.

In 1865, they professed to be the peculiar friends of the President's policy of restoration, because they were led to suppose, from some of his first utterances, that it was his purpose to pursue an unrelenting course towards the vanquished. By one of those monstrous perversions which often distinguish human nature, as when the seducer turns with sudden hate upon his innocent and hapless victim, they breathed out nothing but slaughter and threatenings against their unfortunate and misguided fellow-citizens.

In 1866, when the President had fully develed his benign, clement and magnanimous measures for reconciliation, they forsook him to seek a more congenial instrument for the gratification of their disappointed hate and revenge. To-day they are Radical sympathisers,—in full fellowship and communion with that pestilent and fiendish faction. They propose to persecute, disfranchise and degrade their own people. They propose to pull down the fabric of republican freedom which was constructed by our forefathers; to tear up by the roots the principles of constitutional liberty, and in their place to reconstruct the American "model republic" upon the centralization theories of European despotism. They wish to go backward two hundred years, and reconstruct in America, not the colonial system of England under George III. for that had some elements of popular liberty and independence in it, but the centralized system of Germany under its emperors.

Reader, this is an "o'er true" story. These are some of the marvellous mutations that have been comprehended in the brief but eventful interval between 1856 and 1866.

"The government of the United States has heretofore been respected for its firmness. Its rule has been to encourage its friends and to punish its enemies. But its enemies now seem to be the favorites, while its real friends are neglected and forgotten."—Standard.

We would respectfully direct the attention of the President, and the people, to the foregoing extract.

We take it that the President has sagacity and penetration enough to distinguish between the true friends and the real enemies of the government.

The North Carolina Constitution.

The returns thus far received from North Carolina render it probable that the new State constitution has been rejected. Some of the Radicals, whose heads are as muddled as their hearts are malignant, exult in this as a triumph over President Johnson, and a defeat, in North Carolina, of his policy of reconstruction. On the contrary, the rejection of the proposed Constitution by a popular vote explodes the Radical calumny that the President has interfered with the rights of the States by imposing on them constitutions, to which he extorted their consent. All that President Johnson did was to protect the States in the formation of constitutions for themselves, the people being as free in their action as they are in any of the other States. If they elect a convention to frame a constitution for their consideration, they can sanction or reject the draft, with the same freedom of choice which would be exerted in the State of New York. The freedom with which the North Carolina Constitution has been canvassed, and its rejection (if the full returns shall show that it has been rejected,) attest the freedom of political action in that State, and vindicate President Johnson against the charge of imposing upon the Southern States constitutions to which they do not consent. Every State is as free to revise its constitution as it was to adopt it; there being no difference, in this respect, between the States north and those south of the Potomac.—New York World

We have heretofore indicated that the New York World was one of the most intelligent among our Northern exchanges. It uniformly exhibits a fairness and honesty, as well as a proper sympathy for the South, not commonly found in the Northern press.

The extract above states the point correctly in regard to the amended Constitution, recently submitted to the people. Its rejection, however, had nothing to do with the national status of the State. If the Convention, at its first session, had simply revised and codified the old Constitution, embodying the organic law then in existence, and had only made those changes which the requisitions of the National Government demanded, and submitted it to the people, we have no doubt it would have been adopted almost unanimously. But the people, not having been consulted in regard to other serious changes made by the Convention, wholly relating to State policy, and becoming dissatisfied with the continuance and expensiveness of the body, rejected it. In doing so, they have expressed no opposition to the President's policy. Indeed, the people have ratified that policy already at the ballot-box, and nine-tenths of our people still support it. The unpopularity of the Convention itself, caused by its remaining a second session, and receiving, as the people thought, high pay, and doing what they believed to be unnecessary, what they had not instructed it to do, and what they believed it had no right to do, is the chief and principal cause of the rejection of the amended Constitution, if it is rejected.

Roving Indolent Blacks.

The "Bureau men" profess to have a very tender concern for the freedmen. We commend to their early attention and sympathy, the large number of roving, indolent negroes, who are filling our towns, to the serious injury of the native blacks, who are disposed to work, and to the great annoyance and injury of the white people, whose scanty larders are made to suffer. We judge there cannot be less than 500 able bodied men and women, perhaps 1000, who have left their homes, where they could get work and food, and congregated in this city, who have no regular employment and no visible means of support. If they are suffered to remain here in idleness, they grow more and more vicious. They fall a ready prey to the evil designs of bad men, and much evil may grow out of it. The peace, harmony and order of society can only be secured and preserved by securing profitable labor to the population. When there is an excess of laborers, they must seek employment where it is to be found; otherwise idleness and crime are sure to follow.

EMIGRANTS.—Several hundred emigrants passed through this city, this week, en route for Indiana. The crowd was a mixed one, composed of white and black men, women and children. They were from Guilford, Randolph, and Davidson, we believe. A good portion of them we judge to be young men and women. Some of the colored people belonged to the society of Friends, but very few of the whites we took to be Quakers.

The Greensboro Patriot assures us, (which ought to be very comforting to the "strait sect,") that none of these emigrants left the State, "on account of the bitter persecutions of that terrible ghoul, Jonathan Worth." The agent, who conducted them, stated that he had induced them to go, to be employed as laborers to aid in gathering the very heavy crop of corn made the present year in Indiana,—the price of a day's work there being one bushel of corn. It is very probable that the severe drought, which has nearly destroyed the corn crop in the above counties, accelerated the emigration.

There is no estimating the amount of distress which now prevails at the South. Persons who were in comfortable circumstances before the war, are now actually suffering for food. Ladies raised in luxury and affluence are in many instances compelled to take in sewing in order to support themselves and families. Business men are in a very embarassed condition, many of them not actually making enough to pay the rents of their establishments. A year or two must elapse before any material improvement takes place. What people are to do in the meantime is a problem which cannot be solved.—Cor. N. Y. Herald.

This is a gloomy but a truthful picture. There are those in our midst, who would make it sadder and darker, by heaping upon their suffering neighbors disfranchisement and political and social degradation. Alas! for poor fallen humanity!

Speaking of Saratoga, the Utica Observer says that "the great watering-place is getting to be the great fire-place."

Only fifteen persons followed "Doctor" Dostie to the grave—four ladies, two federal officers, seven citizens, and two negroes. The hearse, five carriages, a cab, and a buggy formed the funeral cortege.

Miss Lee's Monument,—"Honor to Whom Honor is Due,"—Reminiscences of its Locality, etc.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Your editorial request for some friend to furnish your paper with an account of the erection of the monument to Miss Anna C. Lee, late daughter of Gen. R. E. Lee, by the citizens of Warren Co., N. C., was subsequent to that event, but, as one of the Committee of arrangements and your friend, I nevertheless would have most promptly responded, but for the knowledge of the fact that two or three newspaper reporters were present, and that a communication from me at that period would have been a work of supererogation. Nor would I trouble you or your readers now with any remarks upon the subject, but for the reason that the honor of erecting this monument has been unintentionally, I am sure, given to those who neither claim or desire it, while the name of Joseph Speed Jones, Esq., who alone is entitled to all the honor, is entirely ignored by the correspondent of the Petersburg Index. Mr. Jones petitioned to Gen. Bragg, two or three years ago, to detail Mr. Z. Crowder, the patriotic artist, for the special purpose, urging, as an additional reason, that Mr. Crowder had volunteered in the regular army after he had passed the then conscript age, and not "conscripted, as reported," that he had participated in all the hard fought battles in Virginia up to that time, and was then in feeble health. Gen. Bragg promptly consented.

Mr. Jones, whose patriotism is only equalled by his philanthropy, projected and erected this monument, through the aid of Mr. Crowder.

Col. Heck and a few of the prominent citizens of the neighborhood then proposed to Mr. Jones to allow the citizens of Warren to share its honors, to which he most cheerfully consented, but stated to the meeting of those neighbors that he had calculated to defray the whole expense of it himself, and had purchased the iron railing to enclose the cemetery, which they positively refused to let him do, though he still refuses to accept any remuneration for the railing, and claims the right to share in the expenses of the monument.

I am perfectly cognizant of all these facts, and they are well known by all his neighbors; and hence, as a token of gratitude to him and as an act of justice to his accomplished wife, the Committee of Arrangements elected her President of the Ladies' Society by acclamation. How well she deserved that distinguished honor you may judge, when I inform you that the letter of invitation to Gen. Lee to attend the erection, was indited by her in a few hours and without previous notice. For its sublime devotion and patriotism, its elegance, harmony and perfection of language, and for its soul-stirring allusions to the modesty, greatness and goodness of this illustrious chieftain under the vicissitude of fortune, it is not surpassed, in my humble opinion, by any record of epistolary belles lettres.

The locality of the monument is in the cemetery of the Jones family of this County. It is on Shocco Creek, near the White Sulphur and Shocco Springs, and in full view of Gen. Jethro Sumner's monument—one of the first Generals appointed by Congress and one of the heroes of '76. The surrounding country is highly picturesque, and its inhabitants educated and refined. It was settled by Edward Jones, who emigrated from Virginia in 1740, with his wife, whose maiden name was Abigail Shugan. Tradition informs us that she was the first white lady that crossed the Roanoke river. Mr. Jones left a large family of children, and his widow married Thomas Cook; and she is known to posterity as "Grandmother Cook."

She was said to have been a remarkable woman for the strength of her intellect, and for the firmness and energy of her character.—In a wilderness surrounded by savages and wild beasts, and left a widow at an early age with a house full of children, by her indomitable energy she raised and educated them all to become the leading and most useful citizens of the country—five of whom were, at one and the same time, members of our Legislature, and two of them in Congress. Beneath the sacred shades of this cemetery once gambolled in girlhood her daughters—the mothers of the Hons. Nathaniel Macon, Willis Alston, M. T. Hawkins and Judge Seawell. The Hills, the McLemores, with their compass and hatchet opened the way for civilization in Georgia and Tennessee. The Joneses, Eatons, Martins, Johnsons and Greens, have left their civic, legal, and legislative services as a legacy to their country. The Pegrams, and those noble brothers, Major Gen. Robert and Matt. Ransom, besides many others in the Southern and Western States, are the descendants of grandmother Cook. When I was a boy, the aged father and mother of our venerable citizen, Wm. D. Jones, resided hard by this cemetery. Their commodious and spacious dwelling was on a level plat of ground, gently undulating from the yard to a pebble brook in front, and in the centre of several acres of ground clad with verdant sward and shaded with the original forest trees, grand and hoary with age. It was literally the seat of hospitality, refinement and religion. Bishop Early's first wife was a member of this family and sleeps in this cemetery, and the Rev. Messrs. Glenn and Jones married two of her sisters.—What a history this sacred spot could unfold, if it had a tongue to speak, but not a solitary tree or stone is left to tell the joys and sorrows of its former inhabitants. "Sic transit gloria mundi."

I would give you a description of this exquisitely wrought monument, and the highly interesting ceremonies that attended its erection, if it had not been so graphically done by abler hands. It was eminently proper for the citizens of North Carolina to pay this tribute of affection and respect to the daughter of that great and good man, who so often led our sons to victory against such unequal numbers, and likewise an indispensable debt of gratitude they are under to the ladies of Virginia for their munificent kindness to our citizen-soldiers in sickness and health, as well as for their pious care in collecting the remains of our heroic dead into cemeteries and bedecking their graves with floral offerings.

Aug. 15th., 1866. SUMNER.

General Baird's Removal.

A despatch to the Philadelphia Ledger says: General Baird's removal was because of his tardiness in executing the orders telegraphed hither to New Orleans, to have a sufficient military force on hand to prevent any outbreak that might be attempted. This he was expected to do after the negro meeting and procession of the Friday preceding the riot, whereas his troops were not in readiness for service until the dark and bloody scene was over. The War Department was last week ordered to remove him at once, and appoint Stoneman as his successor.

Governor Brownlow refused to obey the requisition of Governor Jenkins for a Federal officer in Nashville, charged with stealing cotton in that State; on the plea that, "all that is necessary to hang a Federal officer or soldier is to get him before a Georgia jury, charged with an offense."

A man out West says that he moved so often during one year, that whenever a covered wagon stopped at his gate his chickens would fall on their backs and hold up their feet, in order to be tied and thrown in.

Being unable to attend in person, the Hon. R. C. Winthrop, of Massachusetts, wrote the following admirable letter, endorsing the objects of the Convention, to the chairman of the State Convention which elected him as a delegate:

LETTER FROM ROBERT C. WINTROP.

BROOKLYN, August 9.

Hon. Leverett Saltonstall:

MY DEAR SIR.—I am sincerely sensible to the honor conferred upon me yesterday by the meeting at Faneuil Hall, over which you presided, in placing my name at the head of the Delegates at large to the National Union Convention.—But, as I had previously intimated to more than one of our friends, it will not be in my power to go to Philadelphia next week.

I am quite unwilling, however, to decline the appointment without a distinct expression of my hearty concurrence in the general views of those by whom that Convention has been called, and of my earnest hope that its deliberations may conduce to the earliest practicable restoration of all the States of the Union to the exercise of their constitutional powers, and to the enjoyment of their Constitutional privileges in the national government.

I can add nothing, I am aware, to the arguments which others have already presented on this subject, and I gladly avail myself of the language of Judge Curtis in his late admirable letter: "To suppose that the Government of the United States can, in a state of peace, rightfully hold and exercise absolute and unlimited power over a part of its territory and people just so long as it may choose to do so, appears to me unwarranted by any rules of public law, abhorrent to right reason, and inconsistent with the nature of our Government." With Judge Curtis, too, I hold to the opinion—"that the Southern States are now as rightfully, and should be as effectually, in the Union as they were before the madness of their people attempted to carry them out."

Most happily, Congress did not adjourn without admitting to their seats the Senators and Representatives of Tennessee; but that very act has rendered it all the more difficult to discover anything of Constitutional principle, or anything of true national policy, in its persistent denial of all representation to the other Southern States. Congress has ample means of protecting itself, and of protecting the country from the presence of disloyal men in the halls of legislation, by the simple exercise of the powers, of deciding on the qualifications of its own members. Had the case of each individual Senator or Representative elected from ten States, lately in rebellion, been taken up by itself and fairly considered on its own merits, agreably to the wise suppositions of President Johnson, no one could have complained, whatever might have been the result. But I know not how either branch could have consented, as it has done, to compromise its constitutional independence by submitting any question as to its members either to legislative or executive discretion.

This great question of representation is not a question which concerns only the Southern States, who, I know, are regarded by not a few unrelenting men as having forfeited all rights which the Northern States are bound to respect. It is a question which concerns the Constitution and the whole country. The people of the whole Union have a right to demand of their public servants an exact and faithful observance of the Constitution and of all its provisions.—It was to enforce and vindicate that Constitution that their blood and treasure have been poured out so lavishly during the last four years of civil war. Who could have believed, in advance, that a year and a half after that war had ended, and after the Union had been rescued and restored, so far as our gallant armies and navies could accomplish it, nearly one-third of the States should still be seen knocking in vain at the doors of the Capitol, and should be denied even a hearing in the councils of the country? Such a course may, indeed, be calculated to prolong the predominance of a party, but it seems to me utterly inconsistent with the supremacy of the Constitution.

I have no disposition, however, to indulge in any imputations either upon parties or upon individuals. I hope that a spirit of forbearance and moderation will prevail at Philadelphia, notwithstanding the insulting and proscriptive tone in which the Convention has been assailed by so many of the opponents of the President of the United States. But I shall be greatly disappointed, I confess, if through the influence of that Convention, or through some other influence, the people of the whole country are not soon aroused to the danger of allowing the Constitution of the United States to be longer the subject of partial and discretionary observance on the part of those who are sworn to support it. It is vain to offer test oaths to others, if we fail to fulfil our own oaths. The necessities of a state of war may be an excuse for many irregularities, both legislative and executive. But, now that, by the blessing of God, a state of peace has been restored to us, we are entitled to the Constitution and the Union in all their legitimate authority and extent. Nothing less than the whole Constitution and the whole Union ought to satisfy us. For one, I should despair of the restoration of law and order in ten Southern States, and even of the maintenance of our own national credit, if there should fail to be exhibited at Washington something of that scrupulous adherence to the Constitution and the laws which characterized the earlier days of the Republic. Nor could anything, in my judgment, be of more baleful influence upon the future career of our country than that Congress should even seem to be holding in abeyance any provisions of the Constitution, until they shall have been changed, under duress, in order to suit the opinions, or secure the interests, of a predominant party. Against such a course of proceeding, I trust, the Convention at Philadelphia will put forth a seasonable and effective protest.

Once more regretting my inability to be present at the Convention, and thanking all to whom I am indebted for the honor of being named as a delegate.

I remain, dear sir, with great regard, very faithfully yours, R. C. WINTHROP.

HORACE L. EMERY & SON,

AT THEIR

Albany Agricultural Works, Albany, New York.

The public are hereby notified that in order to insure to them the Genuine Machines above mentioned, the Patentees and Manufacturers, (successors of Emery Brothers) have appointed Dunn, Plummer & Co., Petersburg, Va., as their Sole Agents, for this city and vicinity, for their sale at manufacturer's prices, with Transportation only added. As other parties are making Cotton Gins without the improvements which have given these Machines their superiority and unexampled success, and are offering them to the public with nearly the same representations, this notice is to prevent the imposition and disappointments of purchasers who desire the well established and approved Machines manufactured only by us.

THE UNIVERSAL COTTON GIN AND CONDENSER of Horace L. Emery's Patent, may be readily distinguished by their having the PICKER ROLL SUPPORTER suspended midway in the hopper over the saws, for supporting and moving the COTTON ROLL and preventing all possibility of choking or bridging of Cotton in the hopper from any cause. Also their air supply openings to an air chamber over the Brush Cylinder, and the words "HORACE L. EMERY'S PATENT" and Albany Agricultural Works, in raised and stenciled letters upon different parts of the Machine.

The Vote on the Constitution.

We are in possession of official returns from 49 counties of the State, in which the vote stands:

Rejection	13,347
Ratification	10,443
Maj. for Rejection	2,904

In addition, we have unofficial returns from 11 counties, which loot up a majority of 109 against Ratification.

We shall publish the entire official vote, as soon as it is received. The sheriffs have now but a few days in which to make their returns.

ACCIDENT.—Just after commencing to work off the first edition of the Sentinel, on yesterday, our press broke down. This will account to our Western subscribers for the failure to receive their paper at the usual time. The same cause prevented the early delivery of the paper to our city subscribers. We hope a similar accident will not again occur.

NEW MILITARY COMMISSION.—The War Department has issued an order convening a special military commission, of which Gen. T. H. Ruger is President, and Capt. J. H. Watsons Judge Advocate, to meet in this city, on the 18th instant, for the trial of such cases as may be brought before it.

THE DIRECT LAND TAX.—We are glad to be able to state that the collection of the direct land Tax has been suspended in this State. The Standard publishes the following instructions of the acting Secretary of the Treasury, directed to R. H. Kingsbury, Esq., of Oxford:

WASHINGTON CITY, Aug., 10th., 1866.

R. H. KINGSBURY, Oxford, N. C.—The collection of the Direct Land Tax has been suspended in North Carolina.

Acting Secretary Treasury.

LECTURE ON GEOLOGY.—Prof. W. C. Kerr, State Geologist, has consented to deliver a Lecture on Geology before the Lyceum in Salisbury, on the evening of the 20th inst.

SAD OCCURRENCE.—The Wilmington Journal mentions a melancholy accident that occurred in New Hanover county on Monday last. The facts are to the following effect:

"The daughter of Mr. Corbett, about five years old, whose Christian name was Serena Elizabeth, was, about 9 o'clock in the forenoon, performing some task allotted to her by her mother, and in attempting to pass through the doorway was killed by the discharge of a gun in the hands of a youth of twelve years, named W. Francis Alexander, son of Mr. Obediah Alexander. The contents of the gun entered the head of the unfortunate child just above the neck, causing a wound which produced instantaneous death.

The lad in whose hands the gun was held at the time of its discharge, was engaged in raising and letting the hammer fall gently upon the cap, in order to fix it on securely. He had called at the house in order to prevail upon the brother of the deceased to accompany him to the field to mind crows. The accident, of which he was the innocent cause, grieved the lad deeply, and it drove him almost to madness to think that he had caused the death of his innocent playmate.

The deceased was a most interesting and intellectual child, and her sorrowful fate has cast a gloom over the whole community."

AN ORIGINAL IDEA.—Two little brothers in this city were quietly sitting near their mother's feet, some time ago, during a thunder-storm, when the elder, whose name was Robert, being somewhat alarmed, looked up in his mother's face and said:

"Ma! how does the Good Lord make lightning?" His little brother, named Eddie, feeling entirely safe under his mother's protection, quickly replied, before his mother could answer:

"Wy, Bobbie, I 'spects he lights a match!"

Startling Developments as to the Conspiracy against Mr. Davis.

NEW YORK, August 13.—The Herald furnishes startling developments respecting the conspiracy to implicate Jefferson Davis in the Lincoln assassination. It prints letters from Caldwell, one of the perjurers, applying for money and a letter from Judge-Advocate-General Holt to Conover, another of the scamps, in which the Judge says he has sent the money. The Herald prints other documents showing the conspiracy to be one of the most infamous character, and one that demands official investigation.

AN UNFORTUNATE POSITION.—The frantic correspondent of the New York Tribune telegraphs from this city to that paper as follows:

"General Sheridan is absent, but expected to return to-night. Two Confederate flags have been raised, and the city is in their possession. Governor Wells is a prisoner in their hands."

Think of Governor Wells a prisoner in the hands of two Confederate flags! Unhappy Governor Wells! Remarkable Confederate flags! Did the correspondent get this information from the Governor, as he got other items of interest with which he has supplied his Radical friends.—New Orleans Crescent.

A youngster, while perusing a chapter in Genesis, turning to his mother, inquired if the people in those days use to do sums on the ground? He was discovered that he had been reading the passage, "And the sons of man multiplied upon the face of earth."

For the Sentinel.

Mr. Davis.

A friend writes:

"I received, some days since, a letter from a lady of Baltimore, to whose family I have been indebted for much hospitable kindness, extended to me for the sake of my old grey coat, which noble uniform her brothers also wore.—She has lately seen Mr. Davis at Fortress Monroe. I send you what she says of him, copied verbatim from her letter. It was not, of course, meant to be seen, and was written carelessly as one writes to a friend; but it gives a touching picture of the condition and sufferings of him who has been persecuted, it may be, even unto death, for the act of us all. Publish them or not, as you think best. His name should be kept constantly before us that we may not be guilty of the dishonor of forgetting that the late leader of our great cause is enduring the treatment of a felon—that we may give him all that we now can, our tenderest sympathies and most earnest prayers for his life and deliverance:"

EXTRACT.

"One of my trips, this Summer, was to Fortress Monroe. I dined with Mr. Davis, and never in all my life was I so impressed and touched as I was that day. The heroism with which he bears his varied sufferings uncomplainingly! I have never seen such patience in all my life before. It is impossible he can live much longer; he knows it, and is only anxious to live for his trial. As he says, his execution would not be the greatest evil. "Remember, I do not wish to be executed, but that is far from being the greatest evil; I do not wish them to tell their story to posterity. I will vindicate my own honor, and that of my people."

He spoke of "his army" with tears in his eyes, and with great enthusiasm, saying that history did not record such an army as his.

I gave him little mementoes from some of his army. It touched him exceedingly.

I can't trust myself to enter into this subject, as I shall write pages if I do. I have come away with a reverence for the man, and a true love for him. He was touchingly kind to me; said I had done him good, and made me promise to come again.

He is so weak that he is forced to lie down most of his time, and is scarcely the shadow of what I once knew.

His religious faith is sublime, and it seemed to me, as if everything earthly, about the man, had been sublimed away and nothing left but what was spiritual. The effort he made to entertain us was great, and at times his smile was so bright, it was hard to realize his hopeless fate as far as this world is concerned; but as we drove away, the hopeless look, out of which all light had faded, and the sad, quiet, feeble way in which he turned and walked into his prison, nearly broke my heart."

THE FALL ELECTIONS IN OHIO.—The best informed in political matters in Ohio observe the same sign that preceded the election in 1862, when the Republicans carried five members to the Democrats' fourteen. The quarrel between the President's friends and the military leaders at that time created a feeling that entirely destroyed the Republicans and the Republican Congress. There is the same general want of confidence in those who have been trying to regulate affairs.

The Republicans will, we presume, carry the three Congressional districts in the western reserve. If they carry any Congressmen outside of that territory it will be after the closest contest and by their good luck.

There is much in the signs of the times to indicate a Waterloo defeat to the Radicals, not only in Ohio, but in all the Northern States.—The chances are that very few of the Jacobins will be returned to Congress.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Queen Emma in Washington.

WASHINGTON, August 13.

Queen Emma of the Sandwich Islands arrived here this evening on the five P. M. train from New York. Quite a crowd had assembled at the depot, attracted by the announcement of her expected arrival.

Carriages for her and suite were in attendance, which took her to Willard's Hotel, where apartments had been engaged for them by order of the President. Honorable Henry Stasberry, acting Secretary of State in the absence of Mr. Seward, was in attendance at the hotel to receive and welcome her. This evening she was serenaded by the band of the Twelfth regiment. As she was much fatigued by her journey, she did not this evening receive visitors, but it is understood the President and Cabinet and other high officials and prominent citizens will wait upon her and welcome her to the hospitalities of the national metropolis to-morrow.

GEN. DOCKERY.—The Standard is making efforts to bring out Gen. Alfred Dockery as a candidate for Governor. We believe Gen. Dockery was once a candidate for the office. If we remember rightly The Standard was published and edited at that time by its present senior editor. He no doubt considers himself a truthful man—and doubtless what he said during the campaign of Bragg and Dockery he considered reliable. This being the case, we advise the editor of The Standard to revise his files, and see, according to the statements they contain, Gen. Dockery is a fit and proper man to elevate to the office of Governor of the State.—Greensboro Patriot.

THE PHILADELPHIA CONVENTION.

MR. VALLANDIGHAM'S LETTER.

TELEGRAM FROM THE PRESIDENT!

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 15, P. M.

The Committee on credentials reported in favor of the admission of Gen. Crosby's Maine delegation.

A letter from Mr. Vallandigham was read amid much applause. After stating that the Ohio delegation had passed resolutions endorsing him as a duly elected delegate, his patriotism and fitness to represent his constituents, and declaring their readiness to stand by him in the assertion of his rights as a delegate, should he think proper to present himself to the Convention, he says: "Yielding my own deliberate conviction of duty and right to the almost unanimous opinion and desire of friends, whose wisdom, soundness of judgment, and sincerity and purity of motives, I may not question, to the end that there shall be no pretext, even, from any quarter, for any controverted question or disturbing element in the Convention, to mar its harmony or hinder in any way the results to the cause of Constitutional Union and public liberty, which shall flow from its deliberations, I hereby withdraw from the Ohio delegation, and decline taking a seat in the Convention. I am profoundly conscious that the sanctity and magnitude of the interests involved in the present political canvass are too immense not to demand a sacrifice of every personal consideration in the struggle, on the issue of which, as I solemnly believe, rest the present peace and ultimate existence of free Republican government on this continent. In conclusion, he trusts the proceedings will be harmonious, the action wise, and that the results will be crowned with triumph."

The following despatch was received from the President:

"WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—To Hons. O. H. Browning and A. W. Randall: I thank you for your cheering and encouraging despatch. The finger of God is unerring and will guide you safely through. The people must be trusted, and the country will be restored. My faith is unsoaken in ultimate success.

(Signed.) ANDREW JOHNSON."

The Convention adjourned until to-morrow, 10 o'clock, when the Committee on resolutions will report. Senator Cowan is chairman of the Committee.

The Great Convention—The Declaration of Principles.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 16, M.

The Convention met at 10 o'clock this morning. The Wigwam crowded to its utmost capacity,—half the audience ladies.

Senator Cowan, from the Committee on Resolutions and address, presented a declaration of principles, which was unanimously and enthusiastically adopted.

It declares that the war has maintained the authority of the Constitution and has preserved the Union, with the equal rights, dignity and authority of all the States perfect and unimpaired; that representation in Congress and in the Electoral Colleges, is the right of every State, which neither Congress nor the general Government have any power to deny; that Congress has no power over the elective franchise, but that right belongs to each State; that no State has the right to withdraw from the Union; that on all Constitutional amendments all the States have an equal right to vote; that slavery is abolished and forever prohibited; that the national debt is sacred and the Confederate debt invalid; recognizes payment for the services of Federal soldiers and the debt due by the nation to them and their orphans, &c.; and endorses President Johnson for his steadfast devotion to the Constitution, laws and interests of the country.

Senator Doolittle, in his opening address, said that the Convention "was one of the greatest events of the age. It was the first National Convention in six years, and meanwhile there had been blood, agony and tears. But, thank God! here is the assurance that all is peace again. If the people of the whole country could see the fraternal feeling here there would be no struggle at the polls this fall. Let us be untiring in our exertions from this time until the elections to see that the next Congress shall secure to the States the sacred right of representation. When that is done, union is restored; and when that is restored, we shall enter upon a higher and nobler career among the nations of the earth than has ever yet been occupied by any government. (Great applause.)

The address was prepared by Raymond of New York, and was read by him.

The Executive and Financial Committees were then announced.

Among the Vice-Presidents are J. W. Brockenbrough, of Va., Jno. A. Gilmer, of N. C., Judge Randall, Florida, Judge Wardlaw, S. C., Febbetts, Arkansas, Bennett, Texas, Houston, Alabama, and Wilson, Tennessee.

Gov. Graham, of N. C., is one of the Committee on Resolutions. Also, Couch, Mass., Dixon, Connecticut, Raymond, N. Y., Bigler, Penn., Johnson, Md., Perry, S. C., Langdon, Ala., Yeargler, Miss., Ray, of Louisiana, and others.

BATTLE'S DIGEST.

The Digest of all the reported law cases in North Carolina, from the earliest period to the present year, is now nearly ready for the binder. It will consist of about 1200 pages, including the table of cases, &c. The book has been so arranged that it can be bound in one volume, or in two, according to the preference of the purchaser.

The cost of publication has been greater than was expected, in consequence of the book being larger, and it is ascertained that the author cannot afford to charge less than $15 for the volume or volumes of the Law, and $10 for the Equity volume to be paid on or before the delivery of the volumes respectively. The work, though containing much more matter, will cost but little more in currency, than was formerly charged in gold or its equivalent for the aggregate of Iredell's and Jones's Digest.

When a purchaser wants an interleaved copy, he will so state in his order for the work. There will be an additional price of one dollar for such copy.

We have consented to act as agents for Judge Battle in the sale of the Digest, and now solicit immediate orders, accompanied with directions as to how the book shall be bound, &c.

The printing of the Equity volume will be commenced without delay.

A New Era In Medicine!

☞ Let the Suffering and Diseased read the following.

☞ Let all who have been given up by Doctors, and spoken of as incurable, read the following.

☞ Let all who can believe facts and can have faith in evidence, read the following:

Know all men by these presents, That on this, the Twentieth day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-Six, personally came Joseph Haydock to me, known as such, and being duly sworn, deposed as follows: That he is the sole general agent for the United States, and dependencies thereof, for preparations or medicines known as MAGGIEL'S PILLS and SALVE, and that the following certificates are verbatim copies to the best of his knowledge and belief.

JAMES SMEITER,
L. S. Notary Public,
Wall Street, New York.

June 1, 1866.

DR. MAGGIEL:—I take my pen to write you of my great relief and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your medicine. Oh, doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, and am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you, and hope you will not take it amiss.

JAMES MYERS,
116 Avenue D.

This is to certify that I was discharged from the army with Chronic Diarrhœa, and have been cured by Dr. Maggiel's Pills.

WILSON HARVEY,
New York, April 7, 1865. 27 Pitt Street.

The following is an interesting case of a man employed in an Iron Foundry, who, in pouring melted iron into a flask that was damp and wet, caused an explosion. The melted iron was thrown around and on him in a perfect shower, and he was burnt dreadfully. The following certificate was given to me by him about eight weeks after the accident.

New York, Jan. 11, 1866.

My name is Jacob Hardy; I am an Iron Founder; I was badly burnt by hot iron in November last; my burns healed, but I had a running sore on my leg that would not heal; I tried Maggiel's Salve, and it cured me in a few weeks. This is all true, and any body can now see me at Jackson's Iron Works, 2nd Avenue.

J. HARDY,
119 Georick Street.

Extract from Various Letters:

"I had no appetite; Maggiel's Pills gave me a hearty one."

"Your Pills are marvelous."

"I send for another box, and keep them in the house."

"Dr. Maggiel has cured my headache that was chronic."

"I gave half of one of your pills to my babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day."

"My nausea of a morning is now cured."

"Your box of Maggiel's Salve cured me of noises in the head. I rubbed some of your Salve behind my ears and the noise left."

"Send me two boxes; I want one for a poor family."

"I enclose a dollar; your price is twenty-five cents, but the medicine to me is worth a dollar."

"Send me five boxes of your pills."

"Let me have three boxes of your Salve by return mail."

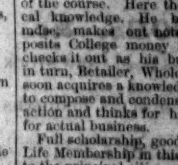
AYER'S AGUE CURE,

FOR THE SPEEDY CURE OF



Intermittent Fever, or Fever and Ague, Remittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache or Bilious Headache, and Bilious Fevers, Indeed for the whole class of diseases originating in biliary derangement, caused by the Malaria of miasmatic countries.

FEVER and Ague is not the only consequence of the miasmatic poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, in malarious districts, among which are Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and Derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in this cause put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "CURE" expels the poison from the blood, and thus cures them all alike. It is not only the most effectual remedy ever discovered for this class of complaints, but it is the cheapest, and moreover is perfectly safe. No harm can arise from its use, and the patient when cured is left as healthy as if he had never had the disease. Can this be said of any other cure for Chills and Fever? It is true of this, and its importance to those afflicted with the complaint cannot be over estimated. So sure is it to cure the Fever and Ague, that it may be truthfully said to be a certain remedy. One Dealer complains that it is not a good medicine to sell, because one bottle cures a whole neighborhood.

Prepared by J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by Williams & Haywood, P. F. Pescud, Raleigh, N. C., and Dealers generally.

THE NATIONAL UNION BUSINESS COLLEGE

WASHINGTON, D. C.,

Offers superior advantages for a thorough Business Education.

The course of instruction embraces Commission, Importing, Jobbing, Retailing, Bank and other Bookkeeping, Commercial Law, Arithmetic, Correspondence, Spencerian Penmanship and Business Practice.

PENMANSHIP is taught by Henry C. Spencer, the leading author of this system, and celebrated as the Editor of the "Spencerian Key to Practical Penmanship," adopted by nearly all first class Colleges as the standard of criticism. Unusual facilities are here presented for acquiring this valuable art.

The system of "BUSINESS PRACTICE," originated and successfully taught by the Proprietor, receives his special attention. This is the most valuable part of the course. Here the student applies his theoretical knowledge. He buys and sells representative notes, makes out notes, drafts, invoices, &c., deposits College money in the College Bank, and checks it out as his business requires. Becoming, in turn, Retailer, Wholesale, Forwarder, Banker, he soon acquires a knowledge of business forms, learns to compose and condense the history of every transaction and thinks for himself. He is thus prepared for actual business.

Full scholarship, good for review at any time, with Life Membership in this Union of Colleges extending to the principal cities, only $45. Books and stationery extra.

For circulars giving full information, for specimens of Penmanship, of the College currency and merchandise.

BUCKEYE SULKY PLOW.

Being impressed with the necessity, and importance of economy in farming, I am happy to have it in my power to furnish to farmers at manufacturers' prices the BUCKEYE COTTON & CORN CULTIVATOR SULKEY PLOW.

It is certainly the greatest improvement of the age in agricultural implements.

It will, with two horses and one hand, cultivate as much land, and do it as well, as four horses and four hands in the usual way; and the plower can ride or ride at pleasure; which enables old or crippled men, who cannot follow the common plow to execute the work as well as the most robust.

It is manufactured by R. Sinclair & Co., Baltimore, at $70, and is the cheapest plow in use, because of the great saving in hands, teams and provisions. For further information upon the subject, address,

HILLSBOROUGH MILITARY ACADEMY.

The exercises of this well known institution, founded by the late Col. C. C. Tew, will be resumed on the 1st day of October next, under the direction of Gen. R E COLSTON, a graduate, and for fifteen years, (up to the commencement of the war) a Professor of the Va. Military Institute.

The course of instruction will be such as to make the Academy a great a school of theoretical and applied science—in which languages and literature will also receive a full share of attention. The discipline and instruction will be upon a complete military basis.

Gen'l. Colston's long experience and extensive acquaintance enable him to assure the public, that he will secure the services of Professors of distinguished ability as the wants of the school require them, and he confidently relies upon the liberal patronage of his old friends and companions in arms, throughout N. C. and the whole South.

Applications for admission must be made as early as practicable, to the Superintendent, and accompanied by testimonials of good moral character. Circulars containing full information will be issued in a few days. For these and all further particulars, apply to GEN R. E. COLSTON,
